Download: External links Category:Free educational software Category:Learning programs Category:Science software for Windows Category:Science education softwareQ: Call external PHP file with AJAX (jquery) There is one paragraph html code: Hi, I want to call a file external.php (which returns a HTML code) For now, when I click on the link, the page redirects me on external.php, but I want to trigger the function from external.php. The external file: Hello, '.$_GET['id'].''; } ?> jQuery: $("a").click(function(){ var fun =

"alert('ok')"; alert(fun); $.ajax({ type: "GET", url: "external.php", data: { id:function(){ return "xxxxx"; } }, success:function(data){ if(data){ $("body").append(data); } else{ alert("Hello"); } }}); }); I would be happy if someone helps me :) A: .ajax() is just a request to a server, it doesn't change the page's source code. If you want to change the page's source code, create an entirely new page using window.location.replace() (which is recommended to be used over a link), see this SO answer: $(function() { $('a.foo').click(function() { var href = $(this).attr('href'); $('#result').html('Before ajax'); $.ajax({
